An Important Decision Concerning Drive Wells.

THE NATIONAL DRILL OPENED

Counting the Money in the Treasury—An Appointment—Land Grant—Railroad Order.

Washington Warnings.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has authorized the location, at 43 Water Street, New York City, of the special bonded warehouse for the storage of grape-brandy. It will be used almost exclusively for storage in bond of brandy produced in California, and it is claimed its location in New York will greatly facilitate the exportation of goods of this class.

BEFORE THE INTER-STATE COMMISSION.

to-day representatives of the Chicago and Alton, and Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, filed charges against the Pennsylvania and New York Central Companies, respectively, of a violation of the third section of the interstate-commerce act, in enforcing the boycott against the two first-named roads, for their refusal to stop paying commissions to their agents. The commission has received a communication from the Mississippi Railroad commission protesting against section four, save only as to exceptional shipments in cases where sale is manifestly demanded to secure special transfer.

THE SUPERIOR COURT.

to-day, announced a decision in the case of Harris Eames against W. D. Andrews and others. It relates to the validity of what is known as "the drive well patent." The importance of this litigation and extent to which the people of the country are interested in it, are indicated by the fact that the number of drive wells in the United States is between 500,000 and 1,000,000. The court holds that the grounds upon which it is sought to invalidate the reissued patent for drive wells, as being for a different invention from that described in the original patent, cannot be sustained; that the invention has not been anticipated by others, and that there is a clear case of infringement. The validity of the reissued patent, issued to Nelson W. Greene, is sustained. The opinion is by Justice Matthews. The validity of the patent is also sustained in the case of A. T. Beebe against Bennett and others. The effect of the decision in these two cases is to render all users of drive wells not authorized under the Greene patent liable to damages for infringement. The opening formalities of

took place at noon to-day. A corps of policemen cleared a space about the flagstaff in front of the camp headquarters in Monument lot. The Washington Light Infantry corps of this district marched in and formed in a hollow square about the camp grand flagstaff. General Auger and his staff entered the square. The chaplain invoked God's blessing upon the camp. The new garrison flag was drawn to the masthead, the troops presented arms, and the surrounding crowds cheered. The national drill was thus formally opened.

ACTING SECRETARY THOMPSON.

to-day appointed a committee to make examination of the books and assets of the office of the United States Treasurer, incident to the transfer of that office from Jordan to Hyatt. The count began this afternoon and can hardly be finished inside of two months. Treasurer Hyatt will formally assume charge of the office to-morrow morning.

THE PRESIDENT TO-DAY APPOINTED.

Commodore D. B. Harmony, Wm. A. Wallace, of New York; H. S. Van Eaton, of Mississippi; Asa Morgan, of Arkansas; Thomas A. Logan, of Ohio; and Professor D. C. Gilman, of Johns Hopkins University, members of the board of visitors to the naval academy at Annapolis.

THE DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

has no information relative to the intention of Sir Charles Tupper to visit Washington.

IN RESPONSE TO A LETTER.

from attorneys of the Williamson Valley and Cascade Mountain Wagon Road Company, asking that patents be issued that company for lands selected by it amounting to 13,814 acres, the Secretary of the Interior to-day replied that there is now pending before the department a letter from the Commissioner of the General Land Office, dated May 10th, setting forth facts tending to show that the wagon road has never been constructed, and that the governor of Oregon was induced to certify to the completion of the road by false representations of interest parties. The request was refused pending an investigation.

AN APPOINTMENT.

The President has appointed Granva Spurgeon, of Santa Ana, Cal., to be postmaster.

Aside from the assumption of command by General Augur, this noon, the only military general exercise of the day was the dress parade at 5 o'clock this evening. Only three corps—the Second Ohio Regiment, Louisville, Kentucky, Legion, and Washington Light Infantry—participated. Their evolutions were applauded.

THE SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR.

to-day issued the following rule upon the land grant railroads, to show cause why an order for the withdrawal from settlement of lands within their endowment limit should not be revoked and opened to settlement and entry:

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR.
WASHINGTON, May 23, 1887.

In appearing from the records that the Department orders withdrawing lands from settlement under public land laws within the indemnity limits of the following list of land grant railroads is still existing, and that these several roads have either made selection of all the lands to which they are respectively entitled or selected all liable to such selection in lieu of those lost in place within the limits of their respective grants, viz: Northern Pacific, in the State of Wisconsin; Northern Pacific, in Dakota Territory; Northern Pacific main line, Kalama to Tenino; Tenino to Tacoma; Wallula to Spokane Falls; Spokane Falls to Pen D'Oreille; Pen D'Oreille to Montana; Yakima to Alinsworth; Alinsworth to Swan Creek; Tacoma east twenty-three miles, twenty-five to thirty miles east, and it now appearing from said records that there are no sufficient reasons for longer continuing in force the several orders of withdrawal now, a rule is hereby entered on the several land grant railroad companies, to show cause, on or before the 27th day of June, 1887, why said several orders of withdrawal from settlement of lands within the indemnity limits of their roads should not be revoked, and the lands therein embraced restored to settlement. Returnable before the Secretary of the Interior this 27th day of June, 1887, at 10 o'clock a.m. (Signed) L. Q. C. LAMAR, Sec'y.

A rule similar in all respects save as to the date upon which it is returnable, June 28th, 1887, has been issued by the Secretary to those roads which have not informed the Interior Department to what extent they are entitled to lands within their indemnity limits, by reason of those lost in place in their respective grants. The following are named under this rule: Alabama, Coosa & Tennessee; Selma, Rome & Dalton; Mobile & Girard; In Florida—Florida Railway & Navigation, in Montana—the Northern Pacific, in Idaho—the Northern Pacific, in Oregon—the Northern Pacific, in Washington Territory—the Northern Pacific, in California—the California & Oregon; Southern Pacific main line; Southern branch line, in New Mexico—the Atlantic & Pacific, in Arizona—Atlantic & Pacific, in Oregon—Oregon Central; Wagon Road; Dallas Military Wagon Road.

LIBRETTO THE WINNER.

Montrose and Jim Gore Left in the Lurch.

CINCINNATI, May 23.—One of the finest assemblages ever seen on the Latonia course, was present at the opening meeting to-day, the interest centering on the Latonia derby. For 3-year-olds and upwards, six furlongs, Mamie Hunt won, Governor Roberts a cond, Linda Payne third. Time, 1:17. For 3-year-olds and upwards, seven furlongs, Malana won, Bird Bowling second, Brilliant third. Time, 1:17. For 3-year-olds and upwards, mile, Jacobin won, Estelle second, Long-stepper third. Time, 1:43.

For 2-year-olds, five furlongs, Buck-hound won, Balance second, Santolin third. Time, 1:04. The last and greatest event of the day, the Latonia Derby, mile and a half, was set for 5:15 p.m. Five minutes after that time the horses were at the post. Poteen delayed the start by all manner of vicious tricks, including kicking and backing. At last a start was made, with Poteen in the lead, Montrose second, Jim Gore third, Libretto fourth, and Bixby last. At the third quarter Lewis had put Montrose in the lead as if it was his purpose to repeat his Louisville tactics. Jim Gore pushed him closely with Poteen in the third place, and Libretto and Bixby in their same order. As they neared the end of the first mile Montrose seemed to be drawing away from the field, but before the end of the mile Jim Gore gained upon him and as they started upon the last half mile, thousands of shouts proclaimed Gore's victory. He passed Montrose and the favorite's colors went down. But another competitor was now to be found in the field; Libretto moved up with apparent ease, under the guidance of Murphy, and as though without an effort, led down the stretch, Jim Gore following and losing distance, though under punishment. Montrose was so bad a third, that he was not even whipped. Poteen and Bixby struggled in at the last. In the pools, before the race, Jim Gore sold for $125, the field $13. The stakes were worth $4,800. Libretto, the winner, belongs to F. B. Harper. He is by Longfellow, out of Alegratto, a handsome bay colt, with strong marks of his sire in his form. The first quarter was made in 27, the half 52, three-quarters 1:15, mile 1:45, mile and a half 2:38.

O'Brien.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., May 23.—To-day a delegation from Rochester, headed by Dr. W. R. Casey, a prominent Leaguer, called upon Mr. O'Brien, from Buffalo there came Father Patrick Cronin, of the Catholic Union and Times, and James Mooney, ex-president of the Irish National League, of America. Many visitors from Hamilton and other points, headed by several well-known citizens and clergymen, called upon Mr. O'Brien, who remained in his room all day. O'Brien said to correspondents that although greatly exhausted and scarcely able to speak above his breath, he was determined upon going to the hall to-morrow. His friends are alarmed at this decision, not because of their fear for another attack there, although such an attack is considered probable, but because the mere journey itself and the fact of making another speech are likely to overpower him and imperil his life. It is said by some enthusiasts that a strong body guard of stalwart men will be organized in Buffalo and will accompany him. Mr. O'Brien, however, does not approve of this, as he does not think there will be any need for such a step. His friends have a positive opinion to the contrary, but they will do nothing without his sanction. He goes from Hamilton to Montreal, where an open air meeting will be held.

NIAGARA FALLS, May 23.—O'Brien arose this morning so weak as to be almost unable to stand. However, he insisted on leaving for Hamilton by the noon train. Toronto is not more than forty miles from Hamilton, and it is understood to-day that bodies of Orangemen intend to make a descent from the larger city upon Hamilton and join with local Orangemen in making an attack on Mr. O'Brien's life. The Nationalists will be organized this time and Mr. O'Brien approves the idea that they should be, and that outside aid should be sent to Hamilton, which will now probably be done by friends in Buffalo and other Irish centers.

HAMILTON, Ont., May 23.—O'Brien's reception here threw everything that has occurred up to the present time in the shade. As he was helped out of the car, his eyes rested upon such an extraordinary sight as said by citizens to have been seen in this town in many years. There, under the scorching rays of the sun, with their hats off, were a vast body of stalwart men, packed so closely together that passage could not be made for some time. In vain did Mr. Kilbride and his other friends try to make way and stop shaking hands with Mr. O'Brien.

Finally the procession of carriages moved and proceeded to the Royal Hotel, saluted with cheers along the whole route. A meeting was held at 8 o'clock in the Palace Rink on Jackson Street, about a mile from the hotel. Outside the hotel a large crowd had gathered, only a few of whom were anti-O'Brienites. O'Brien begged the indulgence of the audience on account of his condition, and proceeded to speak with such force as he had, covering the main ground which he has heretofore covered in his speeches. After Mr. O'Brien sat down, Chairman Read read cablegrams of sympathy from McCarthy, Sexton, Healy, Dillon and Biggar.

George Collins, an Englishman who also addressed the meeting, astonished the audience by the bitterness of his attack on Lord Lansdowne. Frederick Walters, president of the Ironmongers' Union, J. H. Raey and Edward Williams, all Englishmen, and William Berry, an Orangeman, made speeches, after which a resolution condemning Lord Lansdowne was passed. A crowd of several hundred collected in Jackson St. opposite the Rink, just as was the case at Kingston, while the meeting was going on. They were Orangemen, but the chief of police drove them away and allowed no one to stand on a block. What he did probably prevented a riot, for had there been any attack, the men who met O'Brien at the depot in the forenoon, and who were on hand in hundreds, marching up and down one side of the street, would have done terrible mischief. O'Brien's body guard in Hamilton was an organized reality. All was well up to this, but the worst was to come. Another attack was made upon O'Brien, this time with a rifle, and again there was a marvelous escape. This escape, however, being accompanied by a wound in the wrist in one of O'Brien's faithful companions. O'Brien was sitting down, after having made a vigorous speech, in return for a vote of thanks passed, and Dennis Kilbride was on his feet engaged in a like task. Just then a man was observed on the platform leaning over and whispering something in O'Brien's ear. It was noticed that O'Brien shook his head as though in dissent. The man persisted, and the audience now rose to their feet, peering over each other's heads and anxiously striving to catch a glimpse of what was going forward on the platform.

The chairman tried to quell the anxiety by asking the audience to hear Mr. Kilbride, but the crowd of 2,000 people, primed with angry feelings, had not lasted since two successive attempts on O'Brien at Kingston and Toronto, were not easily quieted down. They had noticed that the man whispered to O'Brien, and they were evidently determined to see what it meant. The man again made a silent appeal, whatever it was, and again Mr. O'Brien shook his head. Still one more appeal was made, and this time Mr. O'Brien seemed to acquiesce. The first sign of commotion was when Mr. O'Brien got up and left the platform. This was in response to a request several times made to him which he had already refused. It was the idea of some officious and meddlesome man of a plan which he had to save O'Brien's life. The plan was to leave the rink by a narrow alley, and then reach McNabb stand, jump into a carriage in waiting and drive to the hotel. It was the first time, so far, during the tour that he did not go out the ordinary way, and the plan well nigh cost him his life. In the carriage, which was a covered one, besides O'Brien were Messrs. McMahon and Roche, of the local branch of the National League and Dennis Kilbride. On the driver's seat were John Nelson who held the reins and Tip O'Brien. As they whipped up the horses and faced for the hotel, a crowd suddenly appeared. This crowd proved unfriendly, for no sooner had O'Brien and his friends taken their places than they set upon the usual hissing and growling, which afterwards proved to be a concerted signal to a group of five men who lurked around the market building in the market square. The men who hissed and growled followed the carriage, and as it wheeled into market square there was a sudden click, the horses pranced and a flash of light suddenly overspread the group of buildings, where the men lurked. The reins dropped out of John Nelson's hands, and with an exclamation of "Oh, my God, I'm shot," he fell forward on the seat. Crash! crash! crash! as quick as lightning, and through the bright flashes of the flames sped bullets from two revolvers until eight shots had been fired. O'Brien stretched forward to look out, as he did so a bullet whistled by his face and passed through the opposite window without harming anybody. T. P. O'Brien, Nelson's companion, who had been dazed, now grasped the reins, and lashed the horses through the square into James Street, at the hotel, at the corner of James and Market. Here there was a hostile crowd, who again hooted as the party within tried to open the door, but could not. Mr. McMahon jumped over the door, and drawing his revolver, held the crowd at bay, while O'Brien and his friends were making their exit from the carriage, and also the hotel, in the most comfortable way. As the party stepped into the corridor of the hotel a volley of rotten eggs was hurled at them, but no one was hit. Chief McKinnon and his men now rushed up, but all was over. Nelson was taken to the city hospital. Dr. Jas. White extracted the bullet. He says the wound is dangerous. It is on the left arm, near the shoulder, and the left arm is paralyzed. Mr. O'Brien reached his room, he was smiling and cheerful, and nobody, to look at him, would have supposed he had just escaped from the last of a series of attempts to take his life. As this dispatch is being written, there is a great deal of excitement in the streets. Fire crackers and powder are being exploded in all directions, and fire-arms discharged—a kind of preliminary celebration of the Queen's birthday.

IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.
LONDON, May 23.—In the Commons this afternoon, Sir James Ferguson, Parliamentary Secretary for the foreign office, intimated that no reply had been received from the United States Government to Lord Salisbury's despatch of March 21st, relative to the fisheries dispute. Similar measures, he said, would be adopted for the approaching session as were in force last season. Government would use their powers with moderation.

Balfour, Chief Secretary of Ireland, replying to Gladstone, to-night, promised to procure, during the recess, the return of the Irish agrarian crime bill to the end of May.

W. H. Smith, First Lord of the Treasury, said government's views regarding the amendments to the crimes bill, were that those amendments which related to intimidation, should be decided upon in committee. The other amendments were not of a serious nature until they came to Sir Charles Russell's amendments for the omission of the sub-section relating to the Whiteboy acts. The government would withdraw that sub-section for the present, reserving the right and power to restore it at any stage.

Timothy Healy suggested that the bill be recommitted for reconsideration of the Whiteboy clause.

Balfour said, in no case would the Whiteboy acts be embodied in the bill, but it was proposed to add an offense covered by the Whiteboy act, where such action might be thought desirable.

Marvin, Nationalist, moved an additional proviso to the effect that while cases of boycotting and other minor offenses be tried summarily by magistrates, cases involving conspiracy and other serious charges, must be tried by a superior court. The amendment was negatived—217 to 126.

Smith proposed, as an amendment, that the last two lines of sub-section 2 be added to clause 2. The effect of which would be to exclude six amendments. Carried under closure, 190 to 111.

Maurice Healy, Nationalist, moved the word "threats" be substituted for "intimidation."

Balfour said the government could not afford to restrict definition one iota. They could not accept amendments.

A stormy all-night session is expected.

Forest Fires.

DETROIT, May 23.—A special to the Journal from the upper peninsula reports forest fires still raging. From all points of the peninsula come reports of continued drought and the danger to many towns is as evident as at any previous time. At last reports Ironwood was threatened, but the fires are down and no news has been received since last night. Unless a heavy rain comes soon much damage is feared.

SUPERIOR, Wis., May 23.—The village of Hawthorne, eighteen miles south of here, was entirely destroyed by fire, which is now sweeping through valuable timber in that vicinity. No lives lost.

MARQUETTE, Mich., May 23.—The insurance on property destroyed at Lake Linden amounts to about $500,000. Two fatalities occurred.

The Steamship Collision.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Captain Irving, of the steamer Celtic, was found at the office of the White Star line this afternoon and requested to give his story of the collision. He said: "I have nothing to tell the press. Mr. Ismay, agent of the line, has my official report, as well as that of Captain Perry of the Britannic, and he can give you such information as he desires concerning them. I presume they will differ in material respects and it will require a judicial mind to determine just what is or what is not the exact state of affairs." The official list of the wounded and killed:

Killed—James Finburg, Jane Robinson, James Greenalch, Adam Johnson. The last two missing and supposed to be killed.

Injured—William Latar, Pat Burrell, Elizabeth Waynewright, Mary Griffith, George Arthur Robinson, George Ricketts, Bob Mooney, Michael Gorman, Mark Allen. The general impression is that Mr. Johnson and Greenalch were in berths at the time of the accident, and their bodies are, under the water. J. Bruce Ismay said the company would not make any official statement of the collision. The reports of the two captains would be made to the British consul and by him transmitted to the British board of trade. Liverpool. Many passengers made arrangements to go with other vessels of the White Star Line to their destination. The others who lost all they had state they intend to remain here to await such time as they have recovered from the financial predicament the accident has placed them in.

Lamar on Reforms.

NEW YORK, May 23.—A Washington special to the Herald says: Your correspondent had a conversation yesterday with Secretary Lamar in regard to the question of land and Indian reform, during which the secretary said: "I am fully convinced that all lands which have been withdrawn from settlement at various times to allow land grant corporations to select indemnity lands from, ought to be reopened without delay for settlement and every indemnity withdrawal will be revoked by me without unnecessary delay. Within granted limits land grant corporations have certain rights to the exclusion of the people. That is, by act of Congress, within indemnity limits, corporations have their rights of selection only in common with the people."

Speaking of the Indian severity law Secretary Lamar said: "That law is one of the most important and beneficent Congress has ever passed. The true way to settle the Indian question is to abolish the Indian bureau, I mean, of course, to pursue such a policy as will result in that. The numerous leases of Indian lands by outlaws I shall sweep away. I shall give notice presently that cattle must be removed and leases annulled. I am not fond of the use of troops, but when the cattle men are to go they must go and while I hope the cattle lease men will obey in good faith I shall not hesitate to compel prompt obedience. The law of Congress must be carried out."

An Awful Explosion.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., May 23.—Fablo Crispies saw mill, in Canyon Largo, thirty miles east of this city, was the scene of a terrible explosion, yesterday morning, resulting in the entire destruction of the property, instantly killing two men, one of them a son of the proprietor, and seriously wounding the head Sawyer, Thomas Vataw. At 7 o'clock yesterday morning, the men went to work. At 8:30, while eight employees of the mill were engaged in their usual occupations, without an instant's warning, a terrific explosion occurred, which tore the building from its foundations, splintered heavy timbers and threw the debris into a confused heap into the gulch over which it was built. Five men were in the sawdust pit, and escaped serious injury, but a 17-year-old son of Mr. Crispies and a Mexican employee, named Benito, were hurled into the air as if shot from a catapult, and dashed to the earth a hundred feet away from the mill. Both were picked up lifeless, their bodies being frightfully mangled, with limbs broken and crushed. Vataw was thrown a considerable distance, with splintered and broken boards and timbers. His head was severely contused and a fracture of the skull is feared while his left leg is badly crushed, right wrist broken and neck and back terribly scalded by escaping steam from the boiler.

Jake Sharp.

NEW YORK, May 23.—The work of selecting a jury for the trial of Jake Sharp continued to-day. Eleven jurors were in the box, the fourth seat being vacant on a challenge by the defense. Herman Insel was accepted for the vacant chair. John E. Parsons, of the defense, said: "We suspend our peremptory challenge here to await the course of the prosecution."

"You are content with the jury as it is now constituted," said his honor with a falling inflection.

"No, we make no statement on that point. We simply suspend."

"Well, swear the jury," said Judge Barrett. This caused a momentary panic among Sharp's counsel, but they were relieved after a moment by the prosecution, who resumed the challenge for the people and challenged the eighth juror, Frank G. Minshall. The work of filling his place then began.

In the Event of Disorder.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 23.—The convention between England and Turkey relative to the control of Egypt requires the decision of all powers before it becomes operative. England is to be mandatory of the powers in the event of disorder in Egypt.
